TYNES HALL

J. W. TYNES

Dr. J. W. Tynes (1879-1972) was a distinguished religious leader and educator who served as pastor of Providence Baptist Church, Greensboro's oldest Black church, from 1932 to 1959. Born in Sandy Mount, Virginia, he earned advanced degrees from Ohio State University and served as vice-president of Virginia Theological Seminary and College, where he taught Greek, Hebrew, and theology.

Before coming to Greensboro, he led Eighth Street Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Virginia for 12 years. He was married to Lucy Rich Tynes, the first woman principal of Northern Neck Academy in Virginia. His children included a world-famous opera singer, Dr. Margaret Tynes, and several other successful professionals. Dr. Tynes remained active in ministry even after retirement and passed away at age 93, leaving behind a legacy of religious leadership and educational excellence.

ENRICHMENT CENTER

DR. HOWARD ALLEN CHUBBS

Rev. Dr. Howard Chubbs (1936-2015) was one of Greensboro's most influential religious and community leaders, serving as pastor of Providence Baptist Church for 49 years, making him the city's longest-serving pastor. Arriving in Greensboro in 1966 at age 29, he quickly became a prominent figure in both religious and civic affairs.

Beyond his pastoral duties, Dr. Chubbs served as chairman of the N. C. A&T State University board of trustees and was actively involved in the city's civil rights movement, notably standing with university leadership during periods of social unrest. Known for his distinctive preaching style and rousing baritone voice, he was also remembered for his pastoral care, continuing to minister to his congregation even during his final illness. Dr. Chubbs passed away at age 79, leaving behind a legacy of spiritual leadership, community service, and unwavering faith.
